Philosophy

The philosophy behind the Global solution is simple. Meet the direct needs of businesses by constructing work spaces that fit around an individual's role and lifestyle. The amalgamation of this concept with building modularity allows for innovative and imaginative use of space designed to fit the configurations of today's buildings. The Global compact solution corresponds with these compositions and eliminates the need for building costly and space-consuming dry walling.

The idea that the individual work space created is not just a desk, is enhanced by providing professionals with personal item storage, filing, computer monitor and keyboard space, substantial work surfaces, visual and acoustic privacy while seated, and connection to the 'hub' while standing.

The Global office concept takes into account the dimensional influences of building layout and modern architecture. The proportions are influenced by the contemporary use of 'garage parking-bay' spacings found in today's office block construction. With that in mind, Ukhuni works with teams of planners, specifiers, architects and building contractors to ensure maximised functionality and intelligent use of an entire area.
