Intelligence Design Integrity

An essential prerequisite for contemporary office furniture design is a combination of functionality, aesthetic appeal and optimum space utilisation. It is imperative for office furniture solutions to evolve and keep pace with the rapidly changing time and technology for individual work spaces to be adaptable and user-friendly. Ukhuni is proud to introduce Skala, a product of design and manufacturing integrity. Skala is proudly designed, developed and manufactured in South Africa.

The end product of an intensive research and development process, Skala conforms to the dynamics of change, offering unique, modern configurations designed to endure, evolve and grow. This flexible system supplies a specific need across a comprehensive range of desking, screening and storage elements.

Skala is an investment in today and the future. It consists of a pressure die-cast aluminium chassis-based system, offering a solid substructure and adaptable desktops of solid-core or other board-based materials, with minimum components designed to achieve maximum configurational performance. With virtually infinite reconfiguration possibilities, there can be no obsolescence. These configurations make people feel comfortable, welcome and connected.
